MISSION MOMENTS

In Malawi, unreliable rainfall patterns are a significant issue affecting farmers. As a result of climate change, these unpredictable rains greatly impact food security and limit what farmers can and cannot plant. To assist farmers in Malawi's Karonga District, workshops that teach conservation agriculture techniques are held. Farmers learn how to use mulch and make compost to nourish the soil and grow better crops. Farmers also learn other essential techniques, including weed and pest management, to address the ongoing challenges of climate change. Since implementing a conservation agriculture approach, many farmers have significantly increased their crop yields. This agricultural project is supported by Presbyterian World Service & Development, in partnership with Canadian Foodgrains Bank.
